GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR HISTORY BOOK ENTRIES

The purpose of the AC TRANSIT HISTORY OF LINES BY LINES is to create and maintain a permanent record of particularly important actions and events affecting the service lines, individually and collectively.

An item is of particular or major importance if it has:

1. Been part of a Board Project
2. Received approval by the General Manager
3. Represented a policy change or an exception to policy
4. Generated a strong public or civic response
5. Substantially affected the operation of a line

Under individual Routes By Line, the following categories of items should be listed:

1. Route extension (including summer park service)
2. Substantial service curtailments (including cancellation of summer park service)
3. Reroutes (including turn-in & pull-out reroutes) and route reversals
4. Substantial time changes or schedule adjustments (including changes in school hours)
5. Pertinent street information, such as a street over which part of a route travels becoming designated for one-way traffic.
6. Line transferred to another division.
7. Any other items of major importance in relation to the line (possibly including Contract-line Holiday Service)

Items it is generally not necessary to include consist largely of:

1. Frag or tripper adjustments
2. Gold Card or Handicapped Identification Checks
3. Service cancellations due to an annually-observed holiday
4. Minor time changes or schedule adjustments
5. Individual trips extended over portion of a route already in use by other trips on same line
6. Routine Holiday Service (on AC-Transit non-contract lines)

(Among other items to be included in the "Chronology of Service Related Events" are Transfer Surveys and possibly special parades but not parades which are an annual-holiday custom in a specific area; also variable-date holidays and certain unusual or very special occurrences.

When beginning a 2nd, 3rd, or 4th, etc., page under any individual route heading, "Continued on Rt.____, Page____" should be typed at the bottom of the foregoing, completed page. The Route Designation should be repeated at the top of each page referring to any individual line, and the 2nd page for each Route should be numbered "--2" The word "(Continued)" is shown after "MAJOR CHANGES SINCE 1960" on the 2nd, etc., page bearing each individual Route heading.)
Section II: TRANSIT SYSTEM AND URBANIZED AREA
DESCRIPTIVE INFORMATION - 1977

A. Transit System Overview

1. Description of the Operator's Service Area

The Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District (AC Transit) furnishes local and/or express bus services in twenty-five cities and twelve major unincorporated areas in the counties of Alameda and Contra Costa on the east side of San Francisco Bay. The service area is made up of two transit service districts which together serve more than one million people in an area of 218 square miles.

Special Transit Service District No. 1 includes portions of both Alameda and Contra Costa Counties and encompasses the cities of Alameda, Albany, Berkeley, El Cerrito, Emeryville, Hayward, Oakland, Piedmont, Richmond, San Leandro, San Pablo, and the major unincorporated areas of Ashland, Castro Valley, El Sobrante, and San Lorenzo. AC Transit provides an extensive local transit network covering this area. It is estimated that better than 90% of the population of AC Transit Special Transit Service District No. 1 lives within one-half mile of transit service. Further, it is estimated that 35% of this population lives within one-fourth mile of transit service. Additionally, AC Transit operates transbay service to a terminal in San Francisco from each of the above named cities and unincorporated areas. A route map of the AC Transit District No. 1 is included as Attachment 1 to this Exhibit.

Special Transit Service District No. 2 is contained within the boundaries of the cities of Fremont and Newark in Alameda County. A new system design including mini-fixed routes and selected non-commute hour Dial-a-Ride zones was inaugurated on October 17, 1976, in this two-city area. The design complements an existing seven-route network with twelve mini-fixed routes, operating on a 30-minute frequency during the morning and evening commute hours. Off-peak Dial-a-Ride operates on a zonal basis, with the 17 zones into which the area is divided. Dial-a-Ride offers a 20-minute response time during midday/weekdays and 40-minutes during all other off-peak times.

2. Types of services provided

AC Transit offers a broad range of transit services to complement the complete societal opportunities available to this metropolitan area.

a. Eastbay Local Service consists of 1034 one-way route miles operated over 91 basic routes which expand to a total of 97 peak hour routes serving the entire area. This service focuses primarily on the city centers of Oakland and the other twelve contiguous cities in Special Transit Service District Nos. 1 and 2.

b. Eastbay Express Service consists of a total of 133 one-way route miles operated over 10 routes, three of which are basic routes. These lines generally provide an interurban type service connecting the various outlying cities with downtown Oakland.

c. Transbay Service to San Francisco is provided from each of the cities and unincorporated areas in Special Transit Service District No. 1. This service consists of 12 basic routes which expand to 42 peak hour routes on weekdays. Public transit in the area now accommodates approximately 55 percent of all transbay commuters in the weekday peak hour.

d. Express Bus Service to BART Stations was inaugurated on five special routes on December 2, 1974. The service is being operated under a contract agreement between BART and AC Transit to provide service to BART stations from 14 outlying communities within Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. Please refer to Exhibit C of the AC Transit CA-03-0066 Application, dated December 12, 1973, for a complete description of this service.

e. City of Concord Service began on September 8, 1975, on a contract basis with seven basic routes primarily oriented to BART during the weekday commute period with service extensions to serve a major shopping area during the midday and on Saturday. The City of Concord has contracted with AC Transit to operate this service using local funds and available Section 5 Federal operating assistance monies.

f. City of Pleasant Hill Service was inaugurated on December 8, 1975, on a contract basis, and, as with Concord, the service is funded through local monies and available Section 5 Federal operating assistance. The Pleasant Hill service consists of two routes oriented to the Pleasant Hill BART station during the weekday commute period, and two different routes, serving the same general area with extensions to serve a college and a major shopping center during the midday.

g. Towns of Moraga and Orinda began receiving AC Transit service on September 13, 1976, on a contract basis, and is funded by local monies and available Section 5 Federal operating assistance. The Moraga/Orinda service consists of two routes oriented to the nearby Lafayette and Orinda BART stations during the commute and midday hours. Service connects the BART stations with commercial centers and college.
h. Cities of Antioch, Brentwood, and Pittsburg was inaugurated on June 6, 1977, on a contract basis to the Eastern Contra Costa Transity Authority, with operations being funded by local monies and available Section 5 operating assistance. This service consists of three routes, designed to provide direct local service in Antioch, Brentwood, Pittsburg, and adjacent unincorporated areas of Eastern Contra Costa County, with connections to AC Transit express buses to BART. Direct service is provided from Brentwood to Los Medanos College.

i. Charter Service is operated by AC Transit throughout California from points originating or terminating within the service area of AC Transit. Revenues from this source for the twelve months ending June 30, 1977, total $618,864 on 329,533 miles. AC Transit's charter bus service policy and agreement with the UMTA Administrator has been approved by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

j. Summer Tours are operated in June, July, and August to over twenty points of interest in the greater Bay Area.

k. Special Services include express buses to the Oakland Coliseum for special events and service to Golden Gate Fields Race Track in Albany. Also, an extensive Special Park Service operates during the summer months to serve local and regional parks. This consists of special lines operated from BART stations and community centers where AC Transit's extensive local service focuses.

3. Hours of Operation

AC Transit operates 24 hours daily.

4. Institutional Characteristics of the Operator

AC Transit was created in 1956 pursuant to the Transit District Law of the State of California adopted by the State Legislature in 1955. The District is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of seven members elected by the voters for four year terms. The Board has full power to conduct the business of the District which includes the right to acquire, construct, own, operate, and control transit facilities including the fixing of rates and establishing of routes and levels of service. In addition, the Board has the power to impose taxes on property within the District's service area and may accept contributions or loans from the United States, the State of California, or any agency thereof. It has the power to incur indebtedness and to exercise the right of eminent domain.
Lease arrangements with other public bodies include contracting service to municipalities, the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and regional transit authorities, as detailed in Types of Services Provided in this Exhibit.

Mass Transportation began in the East Bay when the first horse car moved up Broadway in Oakland on October 30, 1869. Horse cars soon spread out into every area, mostly linked to real estate promotion and development. In 1891, the first electric street railway connected Oakland and Berkeley, and soon one line after another switched from horsepower to electricity. By 1903, Francis M. "Borax" Smith had acquired all local operating routes, built a number of extensions, and constructed a three-mile pier into San Francisco Bay. In October, 1903, an electric powered train began picking up commuters in Berkeley, carrying them to the end of the pier, where a ferry boat picked them up and delivered them to the Ferry Building in San Francisco. It was a 35-minute ride compared to the available hour-long train ride.

Smith laid out branches from his main trunk line, which had become popularly known as "Key Route." Eventually, Smith over-extended himself and went bankrupt, but everything that rolled "in-transit" became known as the Key System. Key System Transit Company operated until 1946 when National City Lines purchased controlling interest and moved into bus operations changing the name to Key System Transit Lines.

In 1948 the last of the electric streetcar lines were converted to bus routes. Due to rising costs and declining patronage, Key System was forced to cut service and increase fares.

Its public image suffered, principally in 1953 when a strike was called over a contract dispute that closed public transit service for 76 days. The public soon turned to the solution of a transportation system they could own.

In 1955, the California State Legislature passed an enabling act providing for the creation of a special transit district in portions of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, and citizens of the two counties voted in 1956 to establish the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District. In 1959, voters approved a $16,500,000 bond issue, and in 1960 AC Transit acquired the Key System and went into service with an improvement program that ranged from new service and line extensions to the acquisition of 250 new "transit liners."

Since 1960, AC Transit has grown significantly, as ridership statistics show. The number of passengers carried in fiscal year 1976-77 totalled 61,304,908 and in 1960, when AC Transit commenced operations, the total count was 48,411,106. In 17 years, ridership has increased 26.6 percent.
Annual mileage has increased from 19,713,149 operated in 1960, to 30,261,027 miles operated in fiscal year 1976-77, a 53.5 percent increase. One way route miles have increased 154.9 percent since 1960, from 842 to 2,146.2 in 1977.
